Mar-Lee Companies acquired in the United States by Texen, a PSB subsidiary

Texen (2007 revenues of €125 million), the world's third leading manufacturer of plastic packaging for the beauty industry, has acquired 100% of the American company, Mar-Lee Companies.

Mar-Lee Companies (2007 revenues of $19 million), located near Boston, produces technical plastic parts used primarily in the medical and health field.

This company has highly qualified labour, high-tech manufacturing know-how and advanced automation capabilities that have enabled it to meet its customers' requirements and to grow sharply over the past few years.

Mar-Lee Companies' skills will allow Texen to complete its geographic operations, meet the needs of its customers' American plants and develop a new American clientele in the beauty field.

The Mar-Lee team will continue its current growth and will be assisted by Texen staff to develop the business in the North American beauty industry.

This acquisition strengthens PSB Industries' international presence.
